

PERMISSION FOR STUDENT TO ATTEND LIVE CLASSES

In order to have your child continue to participate in live lessons on Zoom, we require parent permission. As you are probably aware, the live lessons include students on video boxes with their first name. The microphones can be turned off or “muted” during the session. It is possible to attend a session without your camera turned on so you just hear what is happening. We want to ensure everyone’s safety and have put more procedures in place to improve our live classes. We also added expectations for behavior during class meetings.

Expectations for students:

- Students should be dressed appropriately
- Students should be in a location in the household that would not be disrupted by other family members.
- Students should be aware of their surroundings.
- Students should adhere to the same behavior expectations in a video conference as they would in the classroom (i.e. appropriate language, dress, attitude, etc.)
- Students unable to follow appropriate classroom expectations within the video call will be removed from the conference and a phone call will be made to parents.

Expectations for parents:

- In general, parents should follow the same expectations as students.
- You are more than welcome to attend with your child.
- You are an observer and may not interact with the class.
- Should parent or student behavior is obscene or continues to disrupt the learning environment they will be removed from the meeting.

Please complete the form below, indicating your level of permission, and return it to your child’s teacher ASAP.

THANK YOU!
