Dear JMCA Family:

October 5, 2020

I hope everyone had a refreshing weekend. As a reminder, parent-teacher conferences are next week. Students have no school from October 12 to 16, but parents must attend a conference with your student's/students' classroom teacher on October 15 and 16. All parent teacher conferences will be conducted via Zoom. Classroom teachers should have already reached out to you in order to schedule the conference. Please make sure you are in attendance for the conference. Attending parent-teacher conferences is an imperative part of your child's/children's education. Report cards will be sent home Monday October 19 with your student.

Inspirational Quote

Our quote challenge is coming to an end, and thus far, only two students have turned in their interpretation of a quote to me. Now is your chance to email me with your thoughts on quote in order to earn lunch with me. Remember to email your interpretation of the quote to morinkyle@wsd3.org.

“Why does everyone talk about the past? All that counts is tomorrow’s game?”- Roberto Clemente MLB Hall of Famer

“Some people are worth melting for.”- Olaf from Frozen

Volunteer Opportunities-

To accommodate for COVID, JMCA only requires 15 volunteer hours for families. In order to keep track of your volunteer hours, please email Ms. K. She will mark your volunteer hours in the volunteer hour book. In most cases, one hour of work is equal to one volunteer hour.

Below are some suggestions for volunteer hours:

- Clean up the school yard- we will host periodic yard cleaning events on weekends for parents;
- Donate supplies towards the school beautification project; we need paint for a school mural and flowers to plant in a garden;
- Attend the Board of Directors meeting on the last Monday of each month (attendance is equal to one volunteer hour);
- Attend the SAAC meeting on the third Tuesday of each month (attendance is equal to one volunteer hour);
- Assist teachers in completing take home volunteer projects;
- Repaint the lanes in the school parking lot.
